

Some persons say they are never influenced by an advertisement.

It is not expected that any one will buy Ivory Soap solely because it is suggested by an advertisement, but if you have never used Ivory Soap, you may be induced to ask some friend about it; should you find-as you probably will—that she is enthusiastic in its praise, then you may try it.

Millions of people use Ivory Soap; they use it because they like it. You too will like it. There is a difference in soaps.

WALTHAM WATCHES

The best and most reliable timekeepers made in this country or in any other.

The "Perfected American Watch," an illustrated book of interesting information about watches, will be sent upon request.

American Waltham Watch Co., Waltham, Mass.

William H. Smith and John Lyles arrived here from a seuthern state about a week ago. Since then they have been sleeping at night in a lumber yard. Today Judge Kimball sent them to the workhouse for ten days.

Henry Winslow was today fined $5 by Judge Kimball for crueity to a horse. Messrs. Rabbitt and Reiplinger, agents of the Humane Society, said the animal was utterly unfit to work. Winslow admitted the charge against him.

THE COAST OF PORTO RICO IMMACULATE CONCEPTION

and the Customs of the Inhabitants.

The expedition which was sent by the coast and geodetic survey last January to Porto Rice, to make new charts and soundings of the coasts and harbors of that island, has completed its work and several members have returned. The steamer Blake, upon which the expedition sailed, is expected to reach Baltimore next week with the remaining members of the party. Mr. William Bowie is one of those who came north ahead of the steamer, and in conversation with a Star reporter today talked interestingly of scenes and incidents which he witnessed in the island. "It is a beautiful country," he aid, "but will have to be greatly improved. The Americans are doing this right along, and I think the next few years will show remarkable progress in the development of the natural resources of the country. The introduction of modern methods and ideas, of improved machinery and agricultural implements, and the establishment of a good school system will work wonders in the island, I am sure.

The Inhabitants.

"The lower class natives are mulattoes, mixtures of Spanish, Indian and negro blood. The upper classes of society are all pure blooded Spaniards or descendants of Spaniards. The pure whites do not mingle with the half-castes and the social lines are sharply drawn. The peeple are hospitable, although we found some difficulty in availing ourselves of their hospitality, because we did not speak Spanish and they spoke but little English. The educated people speak French, familiarity with this language seeming to be a part of their education.

"The island appeared to be tranquil, and I do not expect there will be any trouble in Porto Rico. The merchants look very favorably upon military control, and hope it will continue, as they feel a sense of security for their property under the government of United States army officers. San hear its objects with our watended many Juan is a lively city, and we attended many brilliant social assemblages while we were there. The girls are very nice looking, but they do not compare with our American young ladies. The contrast between them young ladies. The contrast between their and the young wives of our military officials was always in favor of the latter.
"In the interior of the island the poorer classes do not have many comforts of life. They live in small shacks, made of palm trees and thatched with palm shingles.
Their principal dief is sweet notate and Their principal diet is sweet potato and plantain. The men are not robust, and cannot stand very much fatigue. The pure blooded negroes, however, are more hardy and can perform more labor than the Forto

"The children, up to five years of age, run naked, winter and summer. Gen. Heary tried to change this social custom, but the natives were obstinate, and the youngsters still bask in the tropical sun in a complete state of nature. The school system was very poor until the Americans came in, but it is being rapidly improved, and the army officers are devoting much of their attentions.

"Sugar, coffee and tobacco are the principal agricultural products. Since the abolition of slavery some of the largest sugar plantations have partially grown up in weeds or have been turned into pasture lands. The machinery is very crude and wastes about 20 per cent of the sugar. Towastes about 20 per cent of the sugar. To-bacco is grown in great quantities, and would be very fair if it were thoroughly dried, but the planters are always in a hurry to market their crops. Some of the tobacco, I was told, is sent to Cuba and sold afterward as Havana tobacco. Every male person in Porto Rico smokes, and among the lower classes some of the wo-men smoke but I never saw a Poeto Rica.

EDUCATION IN THE SOUTH.

Special Correspondence of The Evening Star.

CAPON SPRINGS, W. Va., June 23, 1899. the south at Capon Springs is considered one of the most important ever held in this section of the country, both from the timely interest of the questions discussed and the number of distinguished persons

Today's addresses were particularly brilliant. Mr. J. L. M. Curry of Washington spoke in the interest of the poor whites of the south. Northern generosity, he said, was principally directed to the education and enlightenment of the Indians and blacks, and while he would not take one cent from these he asked that the equally needy whites should also be remembered. Referring to the famous speech made here by Daniel Webster at the opening of the present Capon Springs Hotel over fifty years ago, attention was drawn to the many prominent men the south has produced, and to the fact that with its comparatively scanty population prior to the war it possessed more schools than the

Dr. Mayo of Washington made a motion that Dr. Curry's speech be printed for pub-lic distribution. Dr. Alexander Shaw, edi-tor of the Review of Reviews, generously offered to publish it in any form the con-ference might prefer. The offer was ac-eepted. Prof. Wilson of Washington and Lee University followed Dr. Curry on the same subject in one of the most eloquent and enthusiastically applauded speeches that has yet been made. He gave a brief account of the venerable institution of which he is the president, telling of its humble origin as president, teiling of its humble origin as a log hut in pre-revolutionary times to its present growth. But, he declared, he would gladly give up the handsome building of today and go back to the lowly cabin if the college could again turn out the men of giant intellect and strength of character it produced in bureaus days.

In the evening speeches were made by President Baldwin of the Long Island railroad and by Prof. Ormond Stone of the Leander McCormick observatory and Dr. Charles W. Kent of the Linden Kent Medical Charles with the Linden Kent Medical Charles with the Linden Kent Medical Charles with the Charles with Charles W. Kent of the Linden Kent Memorial School, both of the University of Virginia. Prof. Stone is a northern man, who for many years has been identified with southern education, and, therefore, well able to speak on the complex subject of different races. Dr. Kent is a member of the committee on resolutions and is of the committee on resolutions, and is thoroughly interested in public schools. He will take part this summer, as he has for three successive years, in the Virginia school of methods

AT ASBURY PARK.

Bright Prospects for a Successful ndence of The Evening Star.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., June 24, 1899. After 'several very hard seasons and. a war scare that came very near wrecking several hotels last year, Asbury Park has taken a new lease on life, and in the minds of nearly every hotel man and boarding house keeper a radiant picture of long and continued prosperity is forming. Of course the same hope is expressed every season but this year there is much reality behind their views and much more substantial evidences of coloring in the form of an exceptionally large number of early visitors. All of the hotels are now open with the exception of the Coleman, which, owing to the extensive repairs and improvements will not be ready until the coming week. The West End Hotel, being conducted this year West End Hotel, being conducted this year by Mayor F. L. Ten Broeck, is doing a splendid early business and will be nearly filled by the first of the month.

All of the bathing houses were opened this week and hundreds of the cottagers and early hotel guests took their initial dips in the ocean.

The following registered from Washington: Jas. E. Boyd, at the Ocean Hotel; Miss Tullock and Miss Priest at the Victoria, Miss A. J. Johnson and Miss V. Johnson at the Madison, and Mrs. W. C. Alexander at the Surf House.

> The closing exercises of the Immaculate Conception School were held at the Columbia Theater the evening of the 22d instant at 4 o'clock. The movements in march drills, concerted songs and recitations gave evidence of careful training, and afforded > much pleasure to the large audience. The alumnae chorus was a special fea ture of the evening, and called forth once more the members of the different classes, "Handel's Vision," with the great composer's Alleluia Chorus, "Messiah." was rendered and was received with hearty ap-plause. The "Reminiscence of Colonial Times" was participated in by eight diminutive lads and lasses, costumed in the style of the period represented, the class assum of the period represented, the class assuming the airs and graces of "ye olden times."

> "God Bless Our Native Land" consisted of a beautiful patriotic chorus, and a recitation delivered by the elocution teacher, Miss Barington. The solo of Mrs. Goodhue, the vocal teacher of the school, was admirably rendered. "The Passing of the Seasons" consisted of a drill to the rhythmic measures of a gleeful dance, posing, etc. Violin solos were rendered by Misses King and Koechling, and a vocal solo by Miss Whitesell. The valedictory was recited by Miss McCarthy.

DEAL BEACH.

A Beautiful Residential Resort on the Jersey Coast.

Special Correspondence of The Evening Star. DEAL, N. J., June 24, 1899.

This famous old resort, so many years a opular summering place under the name of Deal Beach, is rapidly becoming one of the most beautiful residential resorts on the entire shore. The plans drawn for this resort by the well-known landscape architect, Mr. Nathan F. Barrett, are now nearing completion, and Deal begins to reemble a series of very beautiful gardens. The view along the Esplanade, the main boulevard, extending from the handsome new railroad station directly to the bluff overlooking the sea, is especially beautiful. The twenty handsome inn cottages being erected around the Deal Country Club are rapidly nearing completion. The first one was finished on Monday, and Mr. Sanger M. Pullman, with Mrs. Pullman, took possession of the cozy little home on that day. Nearly all of these cozy and unique homes have been rented by enthusiastic newcom-ers, and the little cottage colony will be one of the most attarctive summering spots on the shore. The enlargement of the Country Club is progressing rapidly, and will be completed within a few days. The beautiful links of the Deal Golf Club, on the western end of the resort, are attracting new members dally. The members high list new members daily. The membership list here now reaches over 300. The nine addi-tional holes being added to the course are practically complete, and play will be al lowed over them as soon as the new crop of grass has grown istronger. The work on the handsome whit house, being erected at a cost of $15.005, is progressing rapidly, and will be completed about the middle of July. The success of this club has been most phenomenal a There will be a recorremost phenomenal. There will be a reorganization here this week and an election of officers for the english year.

The big Hathaway Inn has been much improved since the close of last season, and is more attractive than ever before. Propietor Marsh returned from the scutt. prietor Marsh returned from the south

Court of Appeals Renders Decision

ROCKVILLE, Md., June 23, 1899. The Maryland court of appeals has rendered a decision sustaining the circuit court for this county in the case of Grace E. D. Sprigg and James C. Sprigg, jr., against the town of Garrett Park. The case grew out of the construction by Mrs. Sprigg on her property in Garrett Park of a vault for the reception of refuse. The town council declared it contrary to an ordinance of the town, and after serving notice upon Mrs. Sprigg to remove the pipes leading from her house to the vault, which notice was ignored, the pipes were severed. Mrs. Sprigg brought suit in the circuit court, asking that the town council be enjoined from interfering with the vault. The court decided that the town council had the right to prescribe the character of sewage re-to prescribe the character of sewage re-ceptacles. The case was carried to the court of appeals, with the result stated. Mr. Edwin Warfield of Howard county has inserted articles in the Montgomery county papers announcing his candidacy for the democratic nomination for governor of the state.
